

Fantastic Realities Studio is pleased to announce the publication of

A Rockland Fall

A Chronicle of Digital Photography

From the introduction:

"... I found myself being enthralled with the changing season this year. And from early October to December, I found I had something of a chronicle of the Fall. For the first time since coming to Rockland county from Brooklyn in 2001, I truly observed the changing season. There was a part of me telling me to take a step back from a stressful personal and professional season and take in more deeply the world around me..."
